

International Human Rights Training Program

June 10 - 29, 2018

The International Human Rights Training Program (IH RTP) is an internationally recognized intensive three-week training program.

It is the only training in the world specifically dedicated to building the capacity and skills of human rights educators.

The program is a unique opportunity for human rights educators to acquire practical tools to improve the effectiveness and impact of their work while deepening their understanding of human rights.

Who should apply?

The program is for human rights educators from civil society organizations, regional and national institutions and government agencies.

Registration fees:

The tuition fee is $ 6075 CAD.

This covers:

- Training costs
- Accommodation and meals
- Program materials
- Emergency medical insurance

* Full and partial scholarships available ****

Application deadline : November 20, 2017

Why Apply to This Unique Program?

1 Innovative approach

The IH RTP is an immersion into the participatory approach. The participants are at the heart of the process. They analyze their work and create new strategies for action based on their own experience.

2 From education to action

During the training, the participants develop an individual plan with the help of coaches, in order to put into practice their newly acquired knowledge and skills through activities (training, campaigns, evaluations, follow-up, etc.) within their organization and in their countries.

3 Diversity

The varied professional backgrounds of the participants brings a great richness to the program. Every year, close to 90 participants from more than 40 countries are accepted to the program based on their experience and commitment to the field of human rights.

4 Professional development

In addition to the participatory approach, the program familiarizes participants with the human rights-based approach, the gender perspective and the systems approach. The participants acquire and develop tools for improving the effectiveness and the concrete impact of their work. The IH RTP helps participants transform their working methods by making them more inclusive and participatory.

5 Networking

The IH RTP is an opportunity for participants to meet other committed individuals who, like them, are leaders working for change in their communities. By taking part in the training, the participants become members of a community of practice allowing them to network with former participants and experts and to share tools and resources online.

Photo credit:
Ofgair Shareef

6 Expertise and international recognition

Equitas has 50 years of experience in human rights education. The quality of our prize-winning work has been recognized in Canada and abroad. This will be the 39th IH RTP and over 3,700 human rights educators have been trained, including several world leaders in human rights.

How to apply

First, create an account with our ContactEquitas platform (<https://contactequitas.force.com/>)

- Complete the online application form
- Upload the required documents on your ContactEquitas account :
 - The Memorandum of Agreement duly signed
 - Two letters of recommendation from a national or international human rights organization (other than yours); and
 - A brochure (and/or mission statement) describing the work of the candidate's organization.

Your completed application must be submitted on your ContactEquitas account before November 20, 2017

For more details, visit our website: www.equitas.org

Information:

Equitas - International Centre for Human Rights Education
666 Sherbrooke Street West, Suite 1100, Montreal, Quebec H3A 1E7, Canada
Phone: 514 954 0382 ext. 239
Email: pifdh-ihrtp@equitas.org

