ADVANCING EQUALITY THROUGH HUMAN RIGHTS EDUCATION

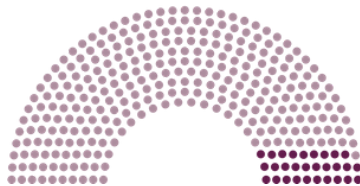

2019-2024

THE SITUATION TODAY

In Kenya, many efforts are being made to protect people's basic human rights. Yet inequalities exist, especially for women and girls.

45% of women face intimate partner violence

9% of elected government seats are held by women

1% of land is owned by women, yet 89% of farmers are women

THE GOAL FOR TOMORROW

Increased empowerment of women and girls

RESULTS

Strengthened leadership for women and men to mobilize their communities

Enhanced collaboration among women's and human rights groups

Improved efforts of women's organizations to engage with decision-makers

HOW TO GET THERE

equitas
educate. empower. change.

The Project adopts a participatory approach to advance gender equality that includes:

KNOWLEDGE AND CAPACITY-BUILDING

- Training for community leaders on human-rights based approaches and gender equality
- Community forums and coaching

COLLABORATION

- Joint awareness raising activities
- Community actions that advance gender equality

ENGAGEMENT WITH DECISION-MAKERS

- Training for women's and human rights organizations
- Policy dialogues
- Action plans
