

Combating the school drop-out of young mothers in Haiti

In Haiti, early pregnancy is a major obstacle to girls' education and empowerment.

Isemone Louissaint

After participating in a human rights community forum offered by Equitas and partners, Isemone decided to take action to support the return of young mothers to her school.

She held meetings with the young mothers concerned, as well as their parents to sensitize them on the right to education.

Of the three girls targeted, two agreed to return to school and did very well this year!

Click to read the full story